Where's my bed?

Write simple directions using right angle turns

You will need:

- coloured pencils

What to do

- Your child should draw a simplified plan of their bedroom using the grid above. Include the door, their bed and any other large items. Ask your child to colour the route from the door to the bed.

With your child, using the squares as 'steps' and describing turns in right angles clockwise or anti-clockwise, write a set of instructions of how to reach the bed from the door. Write the instructions on the back of this sheet. For example, 'Make 1 right angle turn clockwise. Go 3 squares forward.'
